

Overview

A game changer for design, web-to-print and the future of your business

Invent is our ground-breaking plugin that combines the design flexibility of Adobe InDesign with the power and functionality of Infigo's web-to-print platform.

Installation takes just minutes, and allows you to control settings and features for your design template, directly within InDesign.

This means you can create and test new products quicker than ever before. Which is why it's no exaggeration when we say this is a 'game changer' not only for our customers, but the web-to-print space, too. And what's more? It's free for all MegaEdit users!

But, we're not done yet... continuous upgrades, based on customer feedback, will ensure our users will have access to a dynamic tool that meets the demands of an ever-changing industry.

Our powerful Invent plugin will provide Infigo users with not only greater design capabilities, particularly for dynamic products, but also slash the time it takes to create and migrate PDF templates by up to 80%."

Greg Young – Head of Customer Success

Benefits

Not only is our Invent plugin completely free for all MegaEdit users, it also massively speeds up the template creation process, so rather than building out a template from scratch within the browser, you create it offline in InDesign and seamlessly import it into your Infigo storefront - saving both time and money.

The configuration within the template allows for image & text variables, font family & colour control, restrictions on element positioning, generation of forms plus:

- Create templates with the most recognised design software within the industry
- Control settings and features for your template directly from InDesign
- Increase your speed to market by reducing the time it takes to create and launch products by up to 80%
- Diversify your product range by delivering more technical and complex products

Prerequisites

Infigo platform
MegaEdit (editor)